One day he is winning a $2.00 Nassau
but something feels different.

Gradually, he starts forgetting the score or his tee time or, suddenly, how to putt or how to cook, or how to shop for groceries,

We can see the deterioration but are powerless to do anything about it.

He can no longer dress himself or he becomes confused or combative when you try to fix the shirt or pants he's put on backwards.

He can no longer feed himself or feel hunger or thirst but will eat and drink when spoon fed like a small child.

He is unsure of who you are even though you have been his long-time golfing buddy ...

but you don't tell him because it just leads to more confusion and sadness.

He forgets his kids and grandchildren's names.

He is confused, angry or frightened because he is still partially aware of who he used to be.

At the last phase, he will end up bedridden,
unable to move, and unable to eat or drink.

Join us at the Devils Ridge Charity Golf Classic to raise money to defeat the terminal failure of the brain:
Alzheimer's and Dementia.
